I think the Simplex method is very basic for OR. Pro.Chen just let us know some brief concept, did not ask us do a lot handwork. It's great for me. In my opinion, I learned about solving a simple question systematically. You need to totally understand this step and go through next one. However, I consider it is impossible to calculate things all by hands, because the question in the real world is more complicate to solve. Therefore, I hope I can learn more using the computer compute the questions.
